

The Wisconsin Alzheimer's Disease Research Center presents

Alzheimer's Disease & Related Disorders Research Day

Friday, March 1, 2019 | Discovery Building

The Alzheimer's Disease & Related Disorders Research Day is an annual event designed to encourage collaboration and promote scientific thought among faculty, students, and researchers from a wide range of disciplines across the UW-Madison campus. Join the conversation on Twitter by following and including #WIADRD.

AGENDA

The program will begin in the H.F. DeLuca Forum and move to the Open Court after the didactic talks.

PM

1:00 – Opening Remarks

1:20 – “Dementia and Brain Health: Looking Back to Move Forward”
Rachel Whitmer, PhD

2:20 – Selected Abstract Presentations

2:50 – Break

3:05 – “Leveraging Research to Address Social Disadvantage:
A Focus on Aging and Dementia”
Amy Kind, MD, PhD

3:50 – Invitation to Poster Session and Reception

4:00 – Poster Viewing and Reception in Open Court

5:15 – Presentation of Poster Awards

5:30 – Close of Event

FEATURED SPEAKERS

Rachel Whitmer, PhD, is professor of epidemiology and director of the Population Science of Brain Health Laboratory at the University of California, Davis.

Amy Kind, MD, PhD, is associate professor of medicine and director of the Health Services and Care Research Program at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

The event is free, but registration is required.
www.adrc.wisc.edu/researchday2019